Yet another Who's Who'l and this time from Japan | The reader is apt at first to regard it as a curiosity, as a sign that the East has now become Western practically almost to the last detail. " But. Who's Who lo Japan' is far more than a curiosity; it is a very sound and useful reference book. It is printed in English and contains brief biographics, on the accepted model of prominent men in Japan. Mr Kurita in a skilful edito; and has done his work wall. his work wall.

CHINA IN CONVULSIONS.

THE POSITION OF YUAN SHI-KAI. (By Sir F. T. Piggott)

I shall now endeavour to fustify my belief that Clina will not revert to s Monarchy, at least so long as Yuan Shikai has a controlling influence in the affairs of the country.

If I were compelled to summarise from a character in one sentence I should describe" him as a strong man who is ulmost painfully conscious of his weakness at certain points. He certainly is not modest, and his rejection of the purple robe must not be put down to modesty. On the contrary, he has firm belief in Yuan Shi-kai as the one man who is espable of bringing China through her difficulties, and he is resolute to not when he feels the necessity of emphasising this by action. Judging him by these actions, I believe him to be thoroughly imbued with the constitutional doctrine that, as Head of the State, he is bound to set in defence of the State as the emergency demands, though every constitutional principle has to be set naught; "certainly no man in such a position has been compelled to act on so often in so short's time.

Youn Shi-kai promptly refused to have anything to do with it, nominated another Committee, and laid down what he conceived to be the fundamental principles of Presidential Government which he would alone accept. // In fact, he behaved in the most amconstitutional manner, and the walls of Peking resounded with denunciations. Yuan had showed himself in his true colours at last; here was the proof of what had always been said that he was aiming at a dictatoranip or something higher. And yet, all the poor President had done was to lay down a few elementary propositions which a year-old law student would have advised as essoutial to the good government of the Re-

THE NEXT VICEROY.

Rumonred Conservative Claims To Office

" Ditcher " in Calcutta Capital September 24, ireferring to the probable mecessor of Lord Hardings, says :-Conservatives in the Coalition Ministry are reported to be demanding Indian Viceroyalty as a part of the price of their adhesion and service. It is also reported that Lord Curzon, who tinues to take a strong personal interest in the Government of India, is the dispenser not putrousge in this particular matter. They say that his favourite is Lord Crawford, the Premier Earl; Scotland, who as Lord Balcarres acted as Conservative Whip to Mr. Bulfour's renunciation of inactivity. last Covernment. I give the report for what it is worth, but express the hope that it is not true.

The appointment of an active Conservative politician to succeed Lord Fractinge" would be regrettable at th"+ juncture. However able and conscientious, he would still be regarded by Ilidian politicians as a reactionary. The appointment of Mr. Austen Chamberlain th the Indh Office was not received with favour by educated India. To send a Conservative party man to Sinds while be to "increase" Indian discontent deepen Indian suspicion that a return to the methods of the Curzonian regime was intended. I am not concerned to discuss the grounds for such suspicion or the logio of such discontent. It is undeniable that Lord Crawford's appointment would create a situation that could hardly be good for India at the present crisis." for after all the educated Indian gallery counts for much and is counting for more every day. I am not so sure that the whole of Anglo-Indian opinion would pleased to find the Indian Vicerosalty made a mere party spoil and surrendered to the party which holds a pistol at the head of the Liberal Prime Minister.

THE NEW TAXES.

Four of the new taxes are called National Taxes. They are the slamp duty, the tax for examination of deeds, the traders, icense tax, and the special tax on liquora. and tobacco. . Palegrams are being received daily by the local authorities that these saxes must be collected promptly and forwarded without delay to the Central Government to meet their running expenses. Under no circumstances, so the telegrams remind the collectors, will delay in this matter be telerated. Yet the stamp tax is by no means universally observed, the tobacco and liquor license tax has been begging for mercy for a long time, the merchants refuse as a body to obey the rules concerning their trada licenses, etc. it really looks as though the Paking authorities are not apt to impress their wants very strongly upon the people of south China. Somehow these people have acquired a knack of listening quite unconcernedly to the never ending, Peking walls for money, money, and ever more
